: Letter of Reference

Since September 2006 I have been contracted to Neptune Terminals as a Maintenance Project Manager. Neptune Terminals is a Bulk handling facility which is involved in the storage and transportation of coal, potash and canola oil.

During this time I have been responsible for projects ranging from civil, electrical, mechanical and structural.

Iron Mountain began working for me early in 2007 on a project to replace several large conveyor head boxes. This work was awarded to Iron Mountain on a low bid basis. At this time Iron Mountain were now competing against some long time established contractors.

The project was completed well before the estimated time and was done in a very safe and professional manner.

Iron Mountain is a very well run company and have always been generous and accommodating with any extra work that sometimes gets added to projects.

I will highly recommend Iron Mountain as a versatile contractor that is capable of doing a variety of structural and mechanical projects.

Please do not hesitate to call if you wish to confirm this reference.
